

ABSTRACT

A quick-fit system of a shoe on a snowboard whereof the heel-piece also serves as locking detents and unlocking cam for the system maintaining the shoe in its fixing element. The heel-piece (2) is divided in its lower part into two branches (21) each interlocked to a wing (12) of the base (1) by the pin (3). The lower part of the branches (21) are urged to be housed in a notch with matching shape, located on the shoe or a heel support (41) linked thereto.